To the Rev. Samuel Chadwick.

To the Rev. Saml. Chadwick,

from

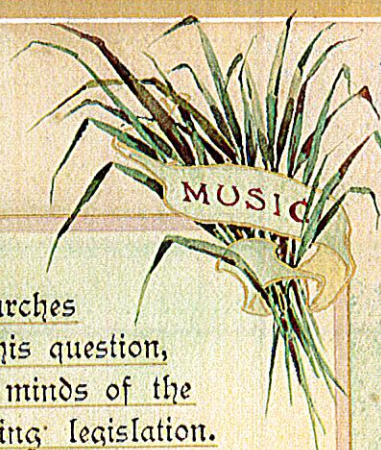

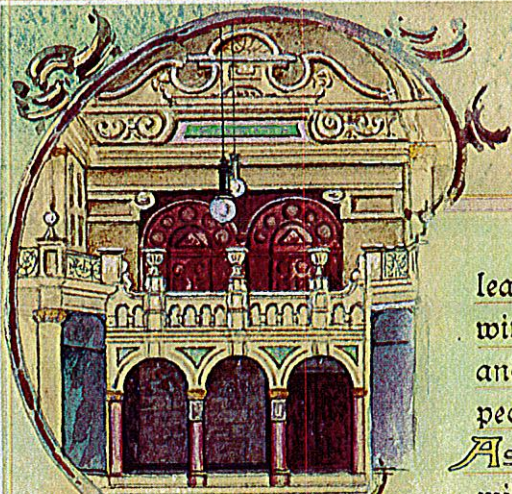

The Leeds
Temperance Council.

Representing the . . . organized Temperance forces of the City, desire to place upon record their high appreciation of the great services you have rendered to the cause of Total Abstinence during your sixteen years' residence in the City. Your voice has been constantly raised and your influence exerted on behalf of every good cause. When the terrible evils caused by strong drink have been under discussion there has been no doubt as to your attitude, because you have always realized what a curse the drinking habits of the people are to the community at large.

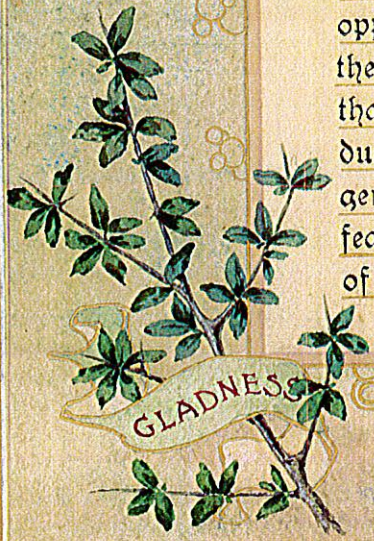

The Leeds Temperance Council, of which you have been a Vice-President for many years, has cause for satisfaction in remembering the many times you have fearlessly denounced the evils which they exist to fight. The moral support gained from advocacy such as yours has done much to leave the Churches with regard to this question, and prepare the minds of the people for coming legislation.

As a member of our Executive, you will remember that one of our most signal triumphs was gained when, as a result of our agitation and legal opposition at the Brewster Sessions, we were able to prevent a large Café in the centre of the City obtaining a license. If it had received a license, only those who have had experience of similar licensed houses can judge of the evil results which would have followed.

The members think it will be a great satisfaction to you to have been connected with an organization which has always opposed those who desired to increase the temptations of life, and to remember that much of its success has been due to the public utterances of gentlemen who, like yourself, fearlessly denounce the evils of the times.

The members desire to assure you not only of their gratitude for your valued services, and of their admiration of your life and character, which have been a benediction to the City of Leeds, but also of the sincere personal affection and regard in which they hold you.

In taking leave of you, it is the earnest desire of the Temperance Council that you may be long spared for like faithful service in your new sphere.

Signed on behalf of the Council,

Charles Hargrove. President.

Tom Harroly. Vice-President.

Wesley Tetty. Vice-President.

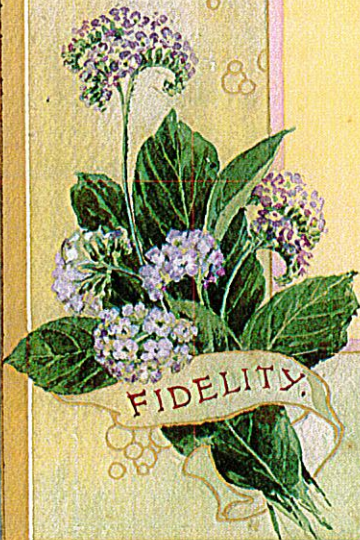

John Dickard. Vice-President.
